Swept Over Niagara
This terrible calamity often happens because a careless boatman ignores the river's warnings—growing ripples and faster current—Nature's warnings are kind. That dull pain or ache in the back warns you the kidneys need aid.

Unclaimed Letters
Following is the list of unclaimed letters remaining in the Lexington post-office for the week ending Oct. 18, 1909:

HANDSOME STRUCTURE
Lexington High School Building Completed
Lexington's beautiful and commodious High School Building is about completed and will be ready for use the first week in November.

The handsome structure occupies the old Ann Smith Academy lot and the site is a commanding one, situated on a knoll with a fine sweep of country both eastward and westward. The location is central and easy of access from all parts of the town.

The building was erected under contract by C. H. Turner & Co. of Lexington, Va., at a cost of about $20,000. Mr. C. M. Robinson of Richmond, was the architect. It is constructed of red brick, with native gray limestone foundations and with reinforced concrete over the windows.

With large, airy recitation rooms, wide halls, convenient offices, comfortable heating apparatus, and a spacious assembly hall, the new building will commend itself to the patrons of the school as well as to the general public.

Approaching the front of the building from Jackson avenue a handsome portico, with stately white columns, gives the structure an imposing appearance. The steps and floor of the portico are granolithic. Entering a spacious door a beautiful hallway extending through the building greets the eye. It is fifteen feet wide and has a pitch, as have all the rooms on the first floor, of fifteen feet. Just within the front door are two side doors leading to the basement, which has been fitted up for recreation rooms in bad weather. The floor is concrete, and the pitch is ten feet. Here are the furnaces, closets, coal rooms, etc.

There are four recitation rooms on the first floor. Two front rooms are about 25 by 30 feet each, with ample side blackboard space, and large windows. Two recitation rooms in the rear are about 25 by 20 feet each. In addition to these there is a room for the physical laboratory and one for the principal's office. The floor of the hall is of maple, while the recitation rooms are pine.

Two flights of stairs in the rear extension lead to the second floor, which is to be used as an assembly hall. It covers the entire second floor, measuring about 60 by 90 feet, and with a seating capacity of about 700. It will be provided with modern opera chairs. The rostrum is placed in the middle of the front side, opposite the entrance through two doors from the rear, and has two dressing rooms, one in each corner at the ends of the platform. A lofty ceiling with good ventilation, makes this an ideal assembly hall.

Each recitation room is provided with cloak rooms. The woodwork is painted cherry color, and the floors in natural wood. The two front rooms have a seating capacity of 60 each, and the two rear rooms 40 each, giving a total of about 200 seats.

The grounds adjoining the building in the front have been terraced and granolithic walks will lead from Jackson avenue and Nelson street to the front porch.

The building committee, under whose supervision the building was erected, is composed of Messrs. William R. Kennedy, chairman; H. D. Campbell, secretary; W. P. Irwin and Charles Pole, with Prof. D. C. Humphreys and Mr. Harrington Waddell as advisors. Most of the practical supervision was done by Professor Campbell, to whose painstaking care and indefatigable efforts is due the splendid building now completed.

Moses Bros.' Improvements at Their Mill
After a close down for four and one-half months for extensive improvements, costing about $6,000, Moses Bros. started their mill at the Point Monday.

The improvements consist of the installation of a new 50-inch turbine wheel of 70-horse power; this in addition to the power already in use. A corn meal plant has also been established, with a capacity of 1,000 bushels a day. The daily capacity of the mill is 125 barrels of flour and 1,000 bushels of meal.

The race has been widened to double its former width, and also made considerably deeper. The largeness of the race has increased the supply of water power about one third. Over the race a concrete bridge has been built for the benefit of the roadway, and has completed by the town will afford a permanent crossway. The tail race has likewise been deepened and widened.

It is expected that a concrete dam will be put in next season over North River, and this will provide additional water power. In addition to the power needed for the grinding of wheat and corn, is that used by the elevator, which has a capacity for 30,000 bushels of wheat. A large storage warehouse with a capacity of 8,000 barrels of flour has been provided.

W. E. U. Won from Wake Forest Saturday
Although badly crippled by having several members of the team out of the game, Washington and Lee piled up a score of 17 to 0 against Wake Forest Saturday afternoon on Wilson Field.

Bad judgment and the failure to punt oftener cost the Varsity at least two touchdowns. Captain Izard did not get in until the last three minutes, and his absence was keenly felt. Wilson and Brown were also out, and none of the regular ends were in the game.

The offensive work of Alderson, Earwood and Barnard, however, was great, and they were responsible for some long gains for the Varsity. Alderson carried the ball seventeen times, and gained a total of ninety-nine yards. The crack full back is now in good condition, and at one time ran a punt back forty five yards through the whole Tarheel team. Four minutes after the first touchdown Barnard took the ball, on the Carolinian's twelve yard line, and went over the line in great style. Earwood ripped off several good gains and once rushed around the Tarheel end for twenty-five yards. Bruce did great work in the line, his speed in getting down on punts and his flying tackles featuring for the Varsity. O'Quinn stretched out some good punts, and the work of the team was far superior to that in the last game.

The line-up: Wake Forest Positions and Lee: Lizzett, V. .... left end. .... Rowe, Burke Williams .... left tackle. .... O'Quinn Horton .... left guard. .... Bruce Powell .... center. .... Blackburn Collins .... right guard. .... Morales Engleby Harrison .... right tackle. .... Osbourne Utley .... right end. .... Efford Liggett, L. .... quarter back. .... Ordeman (capt.) Elliott .... left half back. .... Barnard Allen .... right half back. .... Earwood Forehand .... full back. .... Alderson Touchdowns—Alderson (2), Barnard. Goals from touchdowns—Alderson, Ordeman. Referee, Willis Robertson, Richmond College. Umpire, Dr. Graham, Davidson College. Head linesman, Mr. Henly, Alabama. Time of halves, twenty minutes.

V. M. I. Defeated Carolina in Lynchburg Saturday
Sunday's Lynchburg News: The Virginia Military Institute football eleven sprung a surprise here yesterday when it defeated the University of North Carolina by the score of 3 to 0.

The game was played with a strong west wind blowing which gave the cadets the advantage in the first half and Carolina in the last. The cadets clearly outplayed the Tarheels at every stage save that the defeated team handled the punts better and for more advantage.

Although the Carolina team outweighed the cadets five to ten pounds, the end line proved just as strong as the Carolina line. Indeed the cadets were enabled to go through and around the Carolina line for considerably more than their heavier opponents.

The cadets won the game in the second half after eight minutes of play, when Kinsolving got a full goal from a drop kick from the twenty-yard line. The wind was brisk at the time, and the punt was high. It came down halfway between the posts, and the crowd divided as to whether it crossed or not. The officials decided it was a goal, but it will be a long time before the Carolina squad thinks it lost its first game in Lynchburg. The officials were unanimous in the decision, but there was division of persons standing behind the goal as to whether it passed over or not.

Line-up: V. M. I. Position Carolina: Dashiell .... center. .... Deane English .... right guard. .... Norwood Dalton .... left guard. .... Thompson (captain) Patterson .... right tackle. .... Hodgkiss Nale .... left tackle. .... Spalhour Young .... right end. .... Winston Tallaferro .... left end. .... Williams Kinsolving .... quarter back. .... Belk Pogue .... full back. .... Porter (captain) Caffrey .... right half back. .... Belden Mosley .... left half back. .... Crowell (Elder M. Williams) Goal from drop kick, Kinsolving. Referee, Pfeiffer of Washington and Lee. Umpire, Gammon of Hampden-Sydney. Head linesman, Major Pogue, of V. M. I. Twenty-minute halves.

Death of L. Carlton Payne
Mr. L. Carlton Payne, a former well known student at Washington and Lee University, died last Wednesday morning, Oct. 13, 1909, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Payne in Harrisonburg. The cause of his death was Bright's disease, from which he had suffered for nearly a year.

Mr. Payne was 28 years old. He was educated at Washington and Lee University and for two years was assistant instructor in chemistry. After leaving Washington and Lee he accepted a position with the Baltimore and Ohio as chemist and when taken ill last fall was stationed in Baltimore.

Mr. Payne was a young man of promise and was an exemplary Christian. He was a member of the Odd Fellows.

Chapel Dedication
The Presbyterian chapel at Riverside, on the N. & W. railroad, will be dedicated Sunday, Oct. 24, 1909, at 11 o'clock. The building has recently been completed and is a neat and comfortable house of worship. Rev. J. A. Trostle, the pastor, will conduct the dedication services.

BLAZING ROUTE
National Highway Car Placing Signs for 2 autoists
The New York Herald touring car, a 60-horse power Alco, passed through Lexington Saturday en route to Roanoke, blazing the trail for the coming of the New York Herald-Atlanta Journal national automobile race, to be run from New York to Atlanta, beginning Monday, October 25th, and concluding Saturday.

The path-finding party reached Lexington Friday evening, and spent the night here. The run Friday was made from Harrisonburg. Under the direction of Mr. Blacklock, the Herald's representative, enamelled metal signs, bearing the inscription "National Highway—New York Herald-Atlanta Journal," are being put up every half mile of the journey from New York to Atlanta. The Herald car marked the way from New York to Roanoke and the Journal car from Atlanta to the Merle City.

Mr. Blacklock said this reliability run is not to be an auto race. There will be from 75 to 100 cars to leave New York and the trip will be made in easy stages of about 100 miles a day. Night stops will be made in Philadelphia, the 26th; Gettysburg, the 27th; Staunton, the 28th; Roanoke, the 29th.

There will be more than $3,000 in prizes, but not for speed. Cars making perfect scores will get the money. By perfect scores is meant showing up at each stop on scheduled time. The object of the run is twofold: to test the endurance of well known cars on the market and to encourage the building of better highways.

From Gettysburg to Roanoke the run passes through historic country made famous by the great battles of the Civil War. The route through the beautiful Shenandoah Valley covers 93 miles of the best macadam road in the United States. The autos will pass through Rockbridge on Thursday, the 28th. A stop will be made in Lexington, and lunch will be taken at Natural Bridge. Thursday night will be spent in Roanoke. Thence the run will be continued to Atlanta.

Dr. Hunter Pendleton Wins Cup Golf Club
The regular handicap match of the Lexington Golf Club was begun on their links on October 11th and was finished on October 19th, with Dr. Hunter Pendleton the winner of a handsome silver cup, put up by the Club.

Out of 81 entries, the 16 players with lowest scores were selected to play the match. In order of qualification, the 16 players are as follows: Messrs. B. E. Vaughan, J. W. McClung, W. Harry Agnor, Frank T. Glasgow, W. M. McElwee, M. P. Burke, D. C. Humphreys, E. S. Humphreys, G. D. Letcher, H. C. Wise, V. T. Strickler, Hunter Pendleton, M. C. Goodrell, H. D. Campbell, E. L. Graham and S. G. Pettigrew. The names were then placed in a hat and the position of the players were drawn for.

Unusual interest was taken in this match on account of the closeness in which it was played. Nine or ten times were reported and had to be played off. The feature of the match was Mr. McElwee's playing, yet he tied his opponent each time and played in all 108 holes before he was defeated.

The sixteen players entered the first game, and after each game the defeated player of each pair dropped out and the winners contested in the second game. This method was continued until the final game was played.

The players in the first game were paired as follows: McElwee-Wise; Graham-Pettigrew; Humphreys (E. S.)-Goodrell; Strickler-Pendleton; Letcher-Campbell; Burke-Humphreys (D. C.); Agnor-Glasgow; McClung-Vaughan.

The players in the second game were: McElwee-Graham; Goodrell-Pendleton; Letcher-Burke; Agnor-McClung.

The third game: McElwee-Pendleton; Letcher-McClung.

The fourth and last game: Pendleton-McClung, with Pendleton as the final winner.

Hon. D. Q. Eggleston Dead
The Hon. David Q. Eggleston died Sunday night in Memorial Hospital, Richmond, from pneumonia. For the past eight years he had served as Secretary of the Commonwealth, and was the Democratic nominee to succeed himself at the election in November.

Mr. Eggleston was aged 52 years. He was a cultured gentleman and an efficient official. He was a native of Charlotte county, and the remains were taken to that county for burial. He has a son at Washington and Lee, Mr. John William Eggleston, instructor in biology.

Leaves are falling. Babies don't fall away while taking Dr. Fabyan's Teething Syrup. It makes sap—blood.

Senator William Lindsay Died in Kentucky
Former United States Senator William Lindsay died at his home in Frankfort, Ky., last Friday morning, October 15, 1909, after an illness of some weeks, aged 75 years.

Senator Lindsay was born in Rockbridge county near Alone, September 4, 1835. He was a son of Mr. Andrew Lindsay, and his mother was a Miss Davidson of Rockbridge. He is survived by one full brother, Mr. James Lindsay of Rockbridge, and two half brothers, Messrs. Charles Lindsay of Rockbridge and Bruce Lindsay of Clinton, Ky.

Young Lindsay received his education in the common schools of Rockbridge, and for a time read law in the office of Governor Letcher in Lexington.

He left Rockbridge at the age of 19 for Kentucky, and settled in Clinton, an obscure town in the southwestern part of the State. He there studied for a time in the office of Judge Crossland.

The young lawyer left that office to build a large but unremunerative practice in the surrounding countryside. His work was interrupted by the Civil War. He enlisted in 1861 in a Kentucky Confederate company as a private. He saw much active service and at the close of the war had attained the rank of captain.

When he returned to Hickman county he began to receive a reputation as a man of splendid legal ability. This reputation, local as it was, gave Mr. Lindsay his opportunity. In 1867 the counties of Hickman, Fulton and Graves sent him to the State Legislature, where he performed service which pleased his constituents.

In 1870 he rode to a convention called to nominate a judge of the Court of Appeals. During a somewhat excited discussion someone cried, "Why not nominate William Lindsay?" He knows as much law as any man in the State of Kentucky!" The nomination was immediate and enthusiastic, and later he was elected. He held this office from 1870 to 1878 and rendered a decision on extradition now followed by the Federal courts and approved by the Supreme Court of the United States. He was chief justice from 1878 to 1878.

After this term of office Judge Lindsay removed to Frankfort, Ky., the State capital, where he built up one of the largest law practices in the State. He was State Senator from this district in 1880 and was a member of the World's Columbian Exposition Commission from its organization until 1893. He was called to the United States Senate to fill the vacancy of John G. Carlisle, who resigned to go into President Cleveland's Cabinet, and was re-elected to succeed himself for the full term of 1895-1904, being Mr. Cleveland's representative on the floor.

At the end of that term Senator Lindsay retired, and was named United States Commissioner to the St. Louis Exposition. He could not accept free silver and some other planks of the 1896 Democratic platform and left the party. It was said in Kentucky that had Senator Lindsay followed the State's enthusiastic backing of the Nebraska he would have remained in the Senate the rest of his life.

After his retirement Senator Lindsay opened law offices in New York with the firm of Lindsay, Kremer, Kalish & Palmer, at 29 William street. He had the reputation of being one of the most learned practitioners in the country.

Senator Lindsay's first wife died in 1880, and in 1893 he married Miss Eleanor Holmes of Frankfort, Ky. He was a member of many clubs and associations and of Clan Lindsay, Scotland.

Shooting Scrape
A serious shooting affair occurred south of town Sunday. Aleck Clark got in an altercation with his son-in-law, Robert Myers and the latter was seriously shot through the liver. Medical attention was rendered by Dr. Glasgow. The condition of Myers is favorable. They are both colored.

Only three weeks before the election, but plenty of time in which to see that every Democratic voter is awakened to the fact that his vote is needed to swell the majority for Judge Mann and the other candidates on the Democratic ticket.
